What is Blitzkrieg?

Blitzkrieg is a German term that means "lightning war." It is a military strategy that involves using fast-moving, concentrated forces to overwhelm an enemy before they can react. The Blitzkrieg strategy was first developed by the German military in the 1930s, and it was used to great effect in the invasion of Poland in 1939.

The Blitzkrieg strategy relies on a combination of factors, including:

- Speed: Blitzkrieg forces move quickly and decisively, catching the enemy off guard.
- Concentration: Blitzkrieg forces are concentrated in a small area, which gives them a significant advantage in firepower.
- Surprise: Blitzkrieg forces often attack without warning, which gives them a psychological advantage over the enemy.

The Blitzkrieg strategy was very successful in the invasion of Poland. The German forces were able to overwhelm the Polish defenses and occupy the country in just a matter of weeks.

The German Invasion of Poland
