By John Piper

In Coronavirus and Christ, John Piper offers a timely and biblical perspective on the COVID-19 pandemic. Piper argues that the pandemic is a reminder of our mortality and the need for us to put our hope in Christ. He also offers practical advice on how to live in faith and joy during this difficult time.

Piper begins by reminding us that death is a reality for all of us. The pandemic has simply brought this reality into sharper focus. However, Piper argues that death is not the end for Christians. We have the hope of eternal life in Christ.

Piper then offers practical advice on how to live in faith and joy during the pandemic. He encourages us to:

- Pray for those who are sick and their families.
- Offer practical help to those in need.
- Focus on the things that we can control, such as our thoughts and actions.
- Read the Bible and spend time in prayer.
- Sing hymns and praise songs.
- Fellowship with other Christians.

Piper concludes by reminding us that God is in control. He is sovereign over all things, including the pandemic. Piper encourages us to trust in God's goodness and faithfulness, even in the midst of difficult times.
